

Quality Barley for Australia and the world.

Assured Quality Barley Australia

“The Barley Australia Assured Quality trademark gives purchasers of Australian malt and malting barley absolute confidence in the product they are buying. It identifies they are purchasing a top quality Australian product that has successfully passed through an interlinked quality assured supply chain from farm to factory. They will also know it has met food safety and quality assurance requirements in accordance with internationally recognised industry standards.”

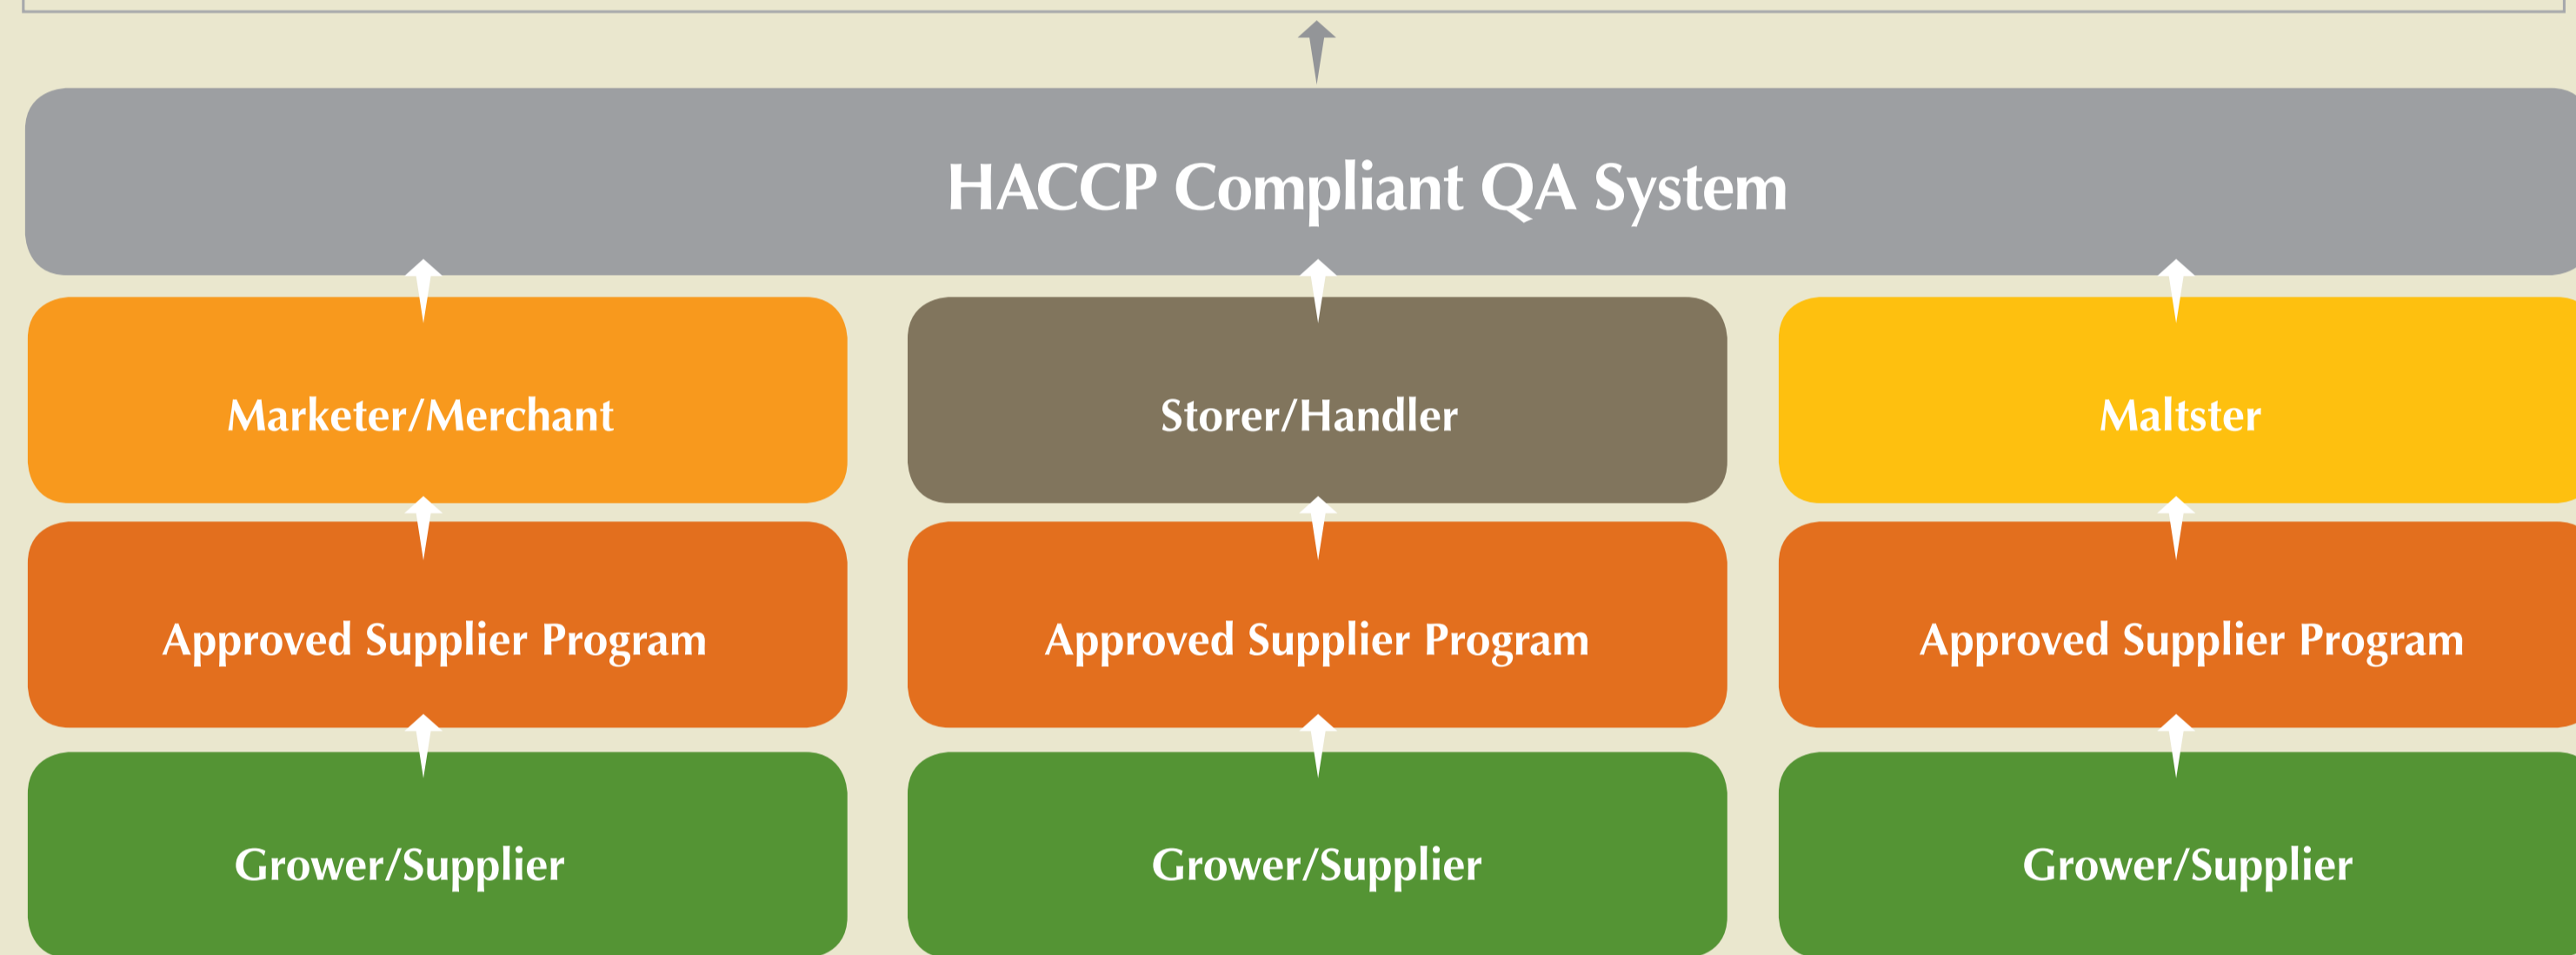

David Thomas, Chairman Barley Australia

The Barley Australia Assured Quality trademark is an overarching quality framework that integrates all quality systems in the Australian barley supply chain from storage provider to customer. To provide a food safety system which is HACCP compliant growers are linked into the system via approved supplier programs to the grain merchant/marketer.

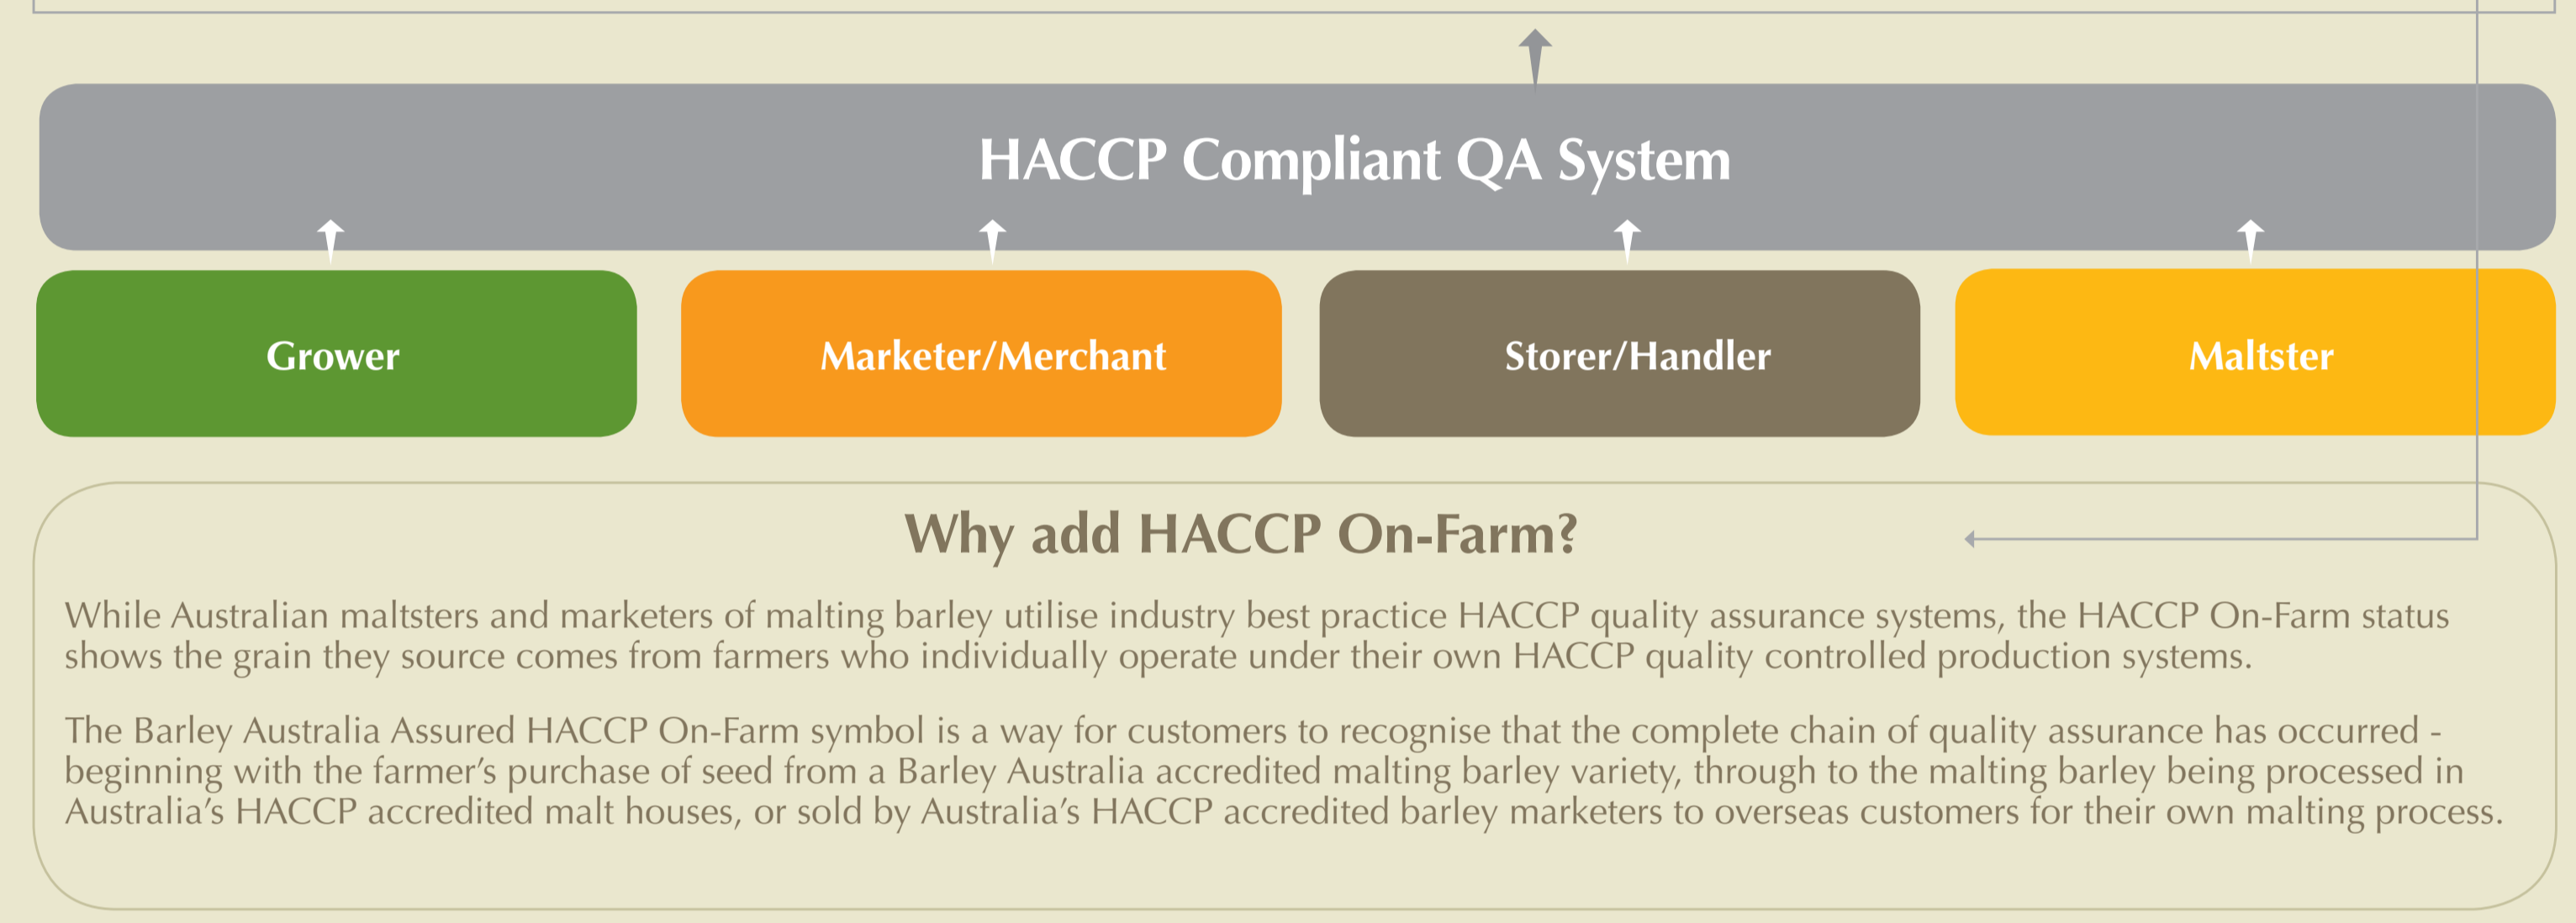

The HACCP On-Farm trademark includes the individual farm supplier and it delivers quality assurance by providing a complete farm to factory HACCP compliant supply chain.

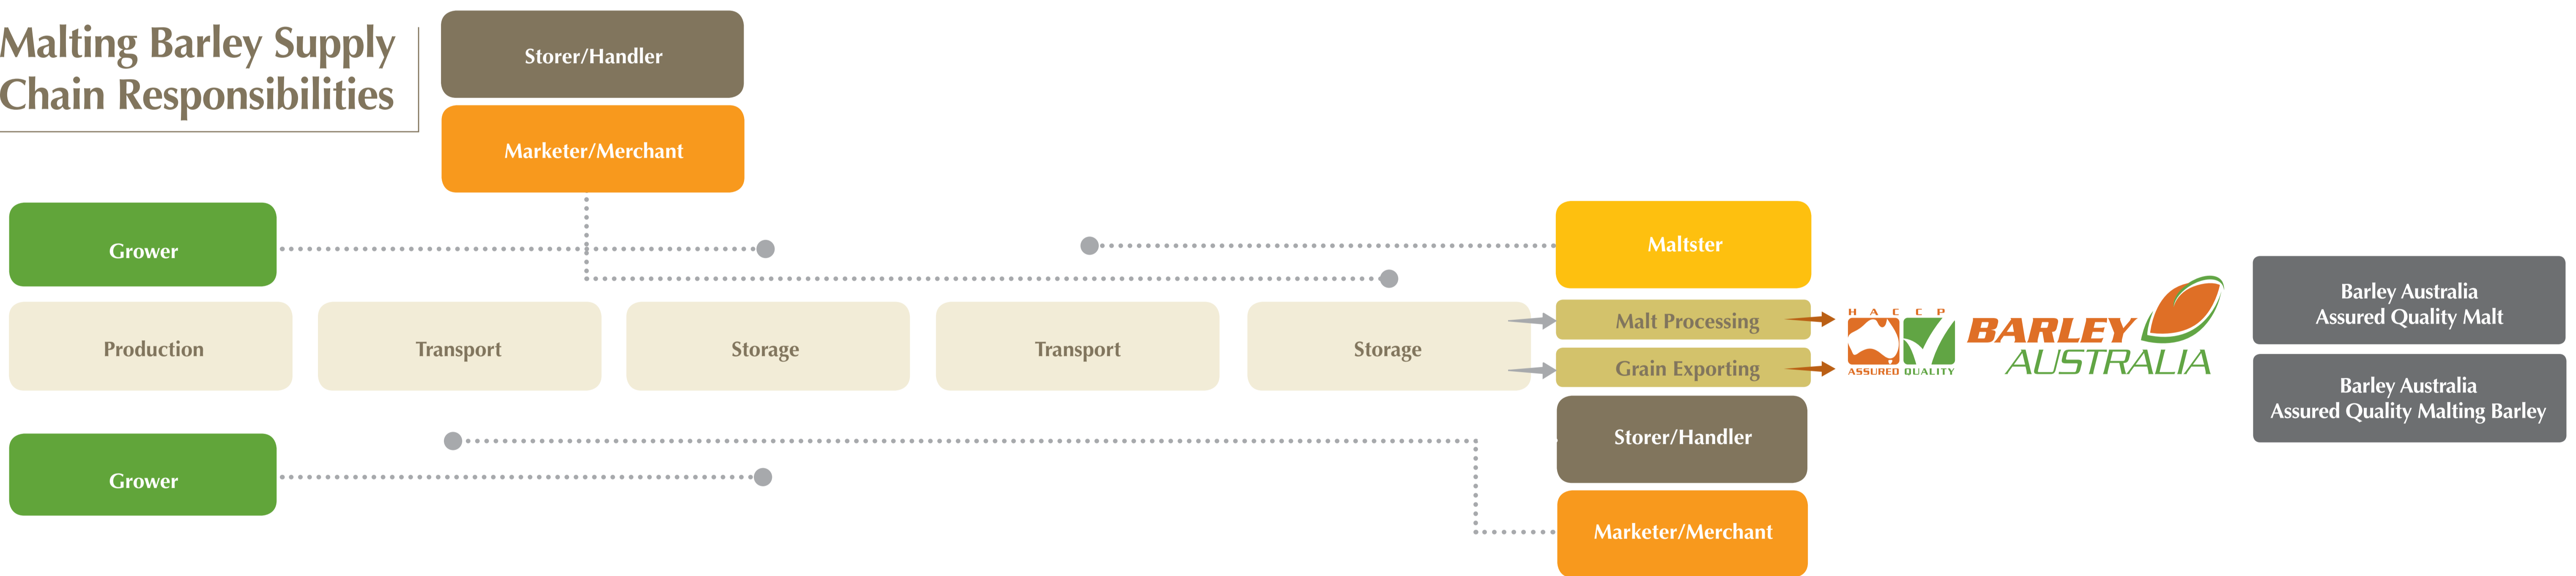

Barley Australia Assured Quality Accreditation

Barley Australia Assured HACCP On-Farm

Malting Barley Supply Chain Responsibilities

What are the key benefits?

The Barley Australia Assured Quality trademark provides confirmation of:

- Good operational practices in relation to storage, handling, segregation, quality testing and monitoring, and transport
- Compliance with food safety standards
- Traceability
- Use of accredited malting barley varieties

Barley Australia Assured Quality System Framework Components

One of our key roles is to assist the development of the Australian barley industry

- Established 2005
 - Industry, not-for-profit industry organisation
 - Key Roles;
 - enhancing supply chain communications
 - national malt variety accreditation
 - voice for shared industry views
- and now the Barley Australia Assured Quality trademark